

The following is a possible scenario of a radio broadcast by short wave at the beginning of the final week of rotation stoppage. The events are potentially real, and are a dramatization of what we all are going to face sometime in the next year or so:

FIRST DAY:

Well, scary things are happening again to our Earth. Everyone remembers the 3 days of darkness for us here in the Northern Hemisphere a few months ago, when many were confused and frightened. Government sources issued contradictory and ambiguous statements. Many lawsuits were launched.

Today, we still have no better idea as to what is happening. NASA remains silent, it's websites are down and are not returning phone calls. For a few days now, there have been rumors of clocks running slow in countries everywhere, computers are confused about the date, and there are reports that yesterday was almost two hours longer than usual. Virtually every day now brings cries of strange behaviour from the Sun: Descriptions of it being brighter and larger with an odd shape to it. Others, are saying that they are seeing a bright object next to the Sun. T.V. News anchors are broadcasting the same old, same old and seem to be very distracted and nervous, one broke down on camera, they had a replacement in seconds, it was bazaar.

NEXT DAY: Now, countless news reports of riots in the streets and government buildings under siege in world capitals, demanding to know what is going on with the sun. The Sun is much brighter now, and it has a clearly visible comet-like object next to it. This new comet is becoming bigger almost by the hour, and it seems to be moving towards us. Religious leaders are saying It's our Armageddon, but scientists are saying that it's a harmless comet about to pass Earth, but whatever it is, it doesn't look friendly. The length of our days and nights continue to be a concern.

A FEW DAYS LATER:

We now have clear, verified reports from confidential sources, that Earth's rotation is indeed slowing down. Days are now 9 hours longer. Scuttlebutt is, that it's to do with this huge comet.. Some intellectuals and book authors are claiming that it is a Planet of antiquity that only passes every few thousand years.

Many countries around the world are paralyzed by rioting citizens with widespread looting. There are many reports coming in that troops are acting alone and are robbing and shooting innocent people. Amid the confusion and carnage, many citizens are taking to the roads and moving out of the cities with whatever they can carry with them. Food stores are sold-out across the country and deserted. Department store employees are not showing up for work. Hospitals are far beyond capacity.

END OF THE WEEK:

This will be our last broadcast, as our emergency power is running low, we will resume broadcasting once power is restored.

Earth has stopped rotation! Brazil, Africa, parts of Western Europe and countries around the Atlantic, are in perpetual day and it is rumored to be very hot there. The rest of the World is the dark. The U.S. Government has issued massive flood warnings for the East coast of the Americas and Western Europe. The citizenry is being begged for restraint. The U.S. White House is asking it's public to move slowly out of the cities, but the national guard and the army is preventing this from happening. There is much confusion. May God help us.
END OF TRANSMISSION.

This issue, we have more great photos of PX and some fascinating news reports of amazing events around the World. I have more NASA Junk science to clue you up. More survival advice and interesting bits and bytes from the Zetataalk sessions. There is so much coming now, I can see in a few months having to either increase the issue frequency and/or a change in format for faster production. We'll see how it goes.

July 11th Solar Eclipse - Cook Islands

On July 11th there was a solar eclipse that revealed Planet X. The Zetas say that PX was positioned at the perfect angle to be seen. Although public recording of this event was cut short, preventing the general populous from seeing a bright object next to the Sun. We have come into possession of images taken by private individuals that unveils this ancient member of our solar system. Public viewing on web cams was available for the first half of the solar eclipse, however, web cam feeds worldwide were shutdown just as the moon was beginning to move off-center of the Sun. It is interesting that public viewing was only available prior to, and up to the apex of the Solar Eclipse, but not for the full event. The Zetas: "The public is to assume a faulty feed".

Why is this Orwellian shutdown act so important? To understand this, I would like to explain one thing. This is, that when the Sun is fully "blacked out" by the moon, anything that is near the sun will be visible as a shining object for that brief moment. Anything that is, such as a planet, which of course is not supposed to be there in the first place. Mercury's orbit, being the closest to the Sun, is too far out to be seen in this manner. This was the point at which the web cams were shut down. Consequently, you can't find public webcam images of the July 11th Solar eclipse of the latter half of the Solar Eclipse.

"The establishment was frantic to ensure that this well-watched worldwide event would not break the cover-up of Planet X and it's presence in the inner solar system."

Recent Sky Events
"Rain of luminous beams"

On Friday, July 9th 2010 at 11:30 PM, the night sky above Xiamen, on the coast of China, was lit up by a rain of shimmering vertical light beams. Looking at the top of the trees in the above image, you can see how bright this amazing event was.

This is another type of event caused by Planet X that I have not previously mentioned, one of "light towers". Light towers are slowly burning emissions of methane gas. Methane gas is being released from the ground and igniting by chemical action in an oxygen disbursed environment: a "slow swoosh".

China has been experiencing continental stretching, with sinkhole events recently being accelerated in this area. A deadly reminder of how big an influence PX has Earth's Crust.

Circle Talk

This Crop Circle (above), reported 30th of June, occurred in Germany at Schneen, Niedersachsen. This spiral, although associated with floods and the death of fish, is a precursor to more sky events such as the Norway Sky Swirl presented in my composite image below.

Above, we see one of the many Petroglyphs that have used the spiral shape to depict a major event experienced by that culture. Aboriginal cultures, the world over, show a spiral of some kind in their drawings in caves and on rock faces. One might say that the spiral is a natural shape and would be used in many different ways. True. However, I found this one on the left from Utah. Notice the similarity to the Norway Sky Spiral to the right. this is just too far beyond a coincidence, even the round dot at 1:00 on the petroglyph is represented on the Schneen dot (above cc) at 6:00 o'clock.

Ancient UFO's

A 15th century Italian painting clearly depicting a UFO being observed by a man and his dog.

Tassili, Sahara Desert, North Africa.

Clearly this is a (cave) drawing of extra-terrestrials visiting Africa (about 6,000 B.C.). If you have any doubt, check out the UFO in the upper right corner.

NASA coverup stories

One of the ways in which NASA is advancing their coverup agenda, is the use of words in a hypnotic way.

This subliminal technique, bypasses the conscious ego-mind by depositing the message in a nonsensical way, some way not noticed, but definitely seen and noted by the sub-consciousness. This is very effective, as the message accepted in the subjective mind, doesn't bear the scrutiny of the searchlight of logic and reason. So, like a time bomb, the suggestion lays there until, by the laws of identification and association, it detonates its payload as an action or a belief in response to a stimulus without a conference with the discriminating conscious mind.

NASA's Junk science, is formulated with "astro-babble": The use of seemingly related astrophysical facts and theory to make the appearance of a coherent message: but notice the "story" headings....

- "Arctic overreacts to climate change"

hidden message: "The melting ice of the Arctic is nothing to be concerned about." and, "if you are concerned you are overreacting." and, "it's not OK to overreact". This title also contains a subtle hint that science knows better than nature. We all know that is so not true.

- "Don't blame El Nino for global warming"

hidden message: "Global warming is as real as the El Nino" Here, they are trying to link the lie of so-called "global warming" to a recognizable climate pattern to draw a false legitimacy.

- "Red Dwarfs May Be Safe Havens For Life"

hidden message: "The Planet X Red Dwarf is no threat to you" Planet X is publicly known as a red dwarf now and NASA is using this "tag" to play against, suggesting that it is beneficial to you or Earth. Please remember, that these messages are not reasonable, it is the suggestive process at work here.

Other efforts by NASA or more obvious like this story:

"Giant Dams Mess With Global Sea Level Rise"

This story tries to get the reader to believe that the weight of large fresh water bodies, like the world's big dams, are causing the Seas to rise. This "logic" needs you to believe that Earth's 18 mile deep rock mantle is going to be tilted or crushed by a 600 -to- 1000 foot deep dam? I don't think so. This is junk science.

The details do not matter at this point to NASA, obviously, they just want to spread as much misinformation as possible, as time is running out for them and they think they have nothing to lose. Well they do, everything we do matters.

Zetataalk: Some July Highlights

Hangzhou, China UFO

I don't usually report on UFO's but this appearance was just too good to pass up. This is a Zeta verified image. Several cities in China have reported seeing this particular UFO as seen here (above image) in Hangzhou, China. Hangzhou is right on the coast, so will be flooded out due to the dropping of the Eurasian Plate. Chongqing, being 1200 miles inland to the East, is similarly warned, as it is surrounded by the junction of two large rivers.

The Chinese Government is applauded by the Zetas for taking such a step as to allow the publishing of UFO sightings. The Zetas say this is because the Chinese government recognizes that these sightings are not going to stop and only increase. Being a pragmatic Government, it is seen to be counterproductive to fight it and their credibility would only be damaged if they did.

It is interesting to note that searching the internet for more information on this UFO sightings, cynical publishers were already beginning to offer up pictures like the one below, for the actual images that were taken on the 8th of July, 2010. I do believe this was the rendering that I remember seeing in: "The day the Earth Stood Still" a science fiction classic from 1951.

By-the-way, it is very interesting that the title of the movie that is image is taken from is: "The day the Earth stood still".

Wild animal species relocation assistance

This is most delightful story about Zeta activity that I have encountered in my almost 3 years of study. Due to the "Human Heart" the Zetas are relocating various life forms of Earth to assist in their survival. Remember the Mammoth? They obviously didn't have this kind of attention. Earth Life species numbering in the thousands such as: "redwood trees, dolphins, bird species, wild flowers, comical creatures such as the armadillo, the polar bear, and land tortoises" will be lovingly placed in new areas of Earth to ensure a good footing for recovery. Truly, the Zetas care about our Earth and it's survival.

The photon Belt

A percentage of people, as I have mentioned in my last Planet X NewsLetter, seem to cling to the hope that this pole-shift can be avoided or lessened at the last minute. Besides the fact that this tendency is dangerous if full preparations are not made for the pole-shift, I wanted to briefly outline the science around The Photon Belt.

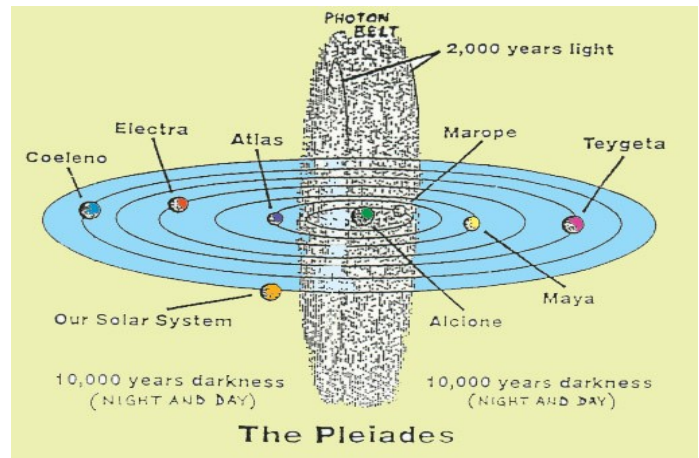

Edmond Halley (of Halley's comet fame) discovered the Photon Belt in 1961 and coined it "The Golden Nebula" as it had unusual properties as differentiated from the usual composition of gas and dust. Named by a golden light, the Hubble Space Telescope reveals it as blue (below). Eventually found to be an "electromagnetic cloud" projected to intersect with Earth in the near future, it was publicly announced in the early Nineteen Eighties.

At this point I'm guessing that a government clamp-down came into effect shortly after, as it's hard to find real data on it, which is a sure sign of a cover-up. When you consider the consequences of our Solar System taking 2,000 years to transit a massive, fluctuating, electromagnetic nebula projected to cause a full-Earth electrical shutdown, just for starters. I can imagine the back rooms of NASA working overtime on that one.

This hard-to-imagine epoch is anticipated to be a dramatic uplift to Life on Earth and is hardly something to be ignored. The Zetas say this spectacular energy infusion is not entirely physical. The Science: it involves electrons and anti-electrons (positrons) combining and releasing (annihilation) gamma radiation or Gamma photons as very energetic photonic radiation.

The transition into this new Earth-Life epoch takes only a few days, but results in wonderful sublimation of all who experience it. This is predicted by the Mayan Culture and is presented in a recent series of videos by Drunvalo Melchizedek. Drunvalo speaks on behalf of the Mayan people, who approached him to do this, in a 14 part video presentation of a modern message to the people of the world: "The Maya of Eternal Time 2012".

According to the Zetas, Earth's progression into this Great cloud of energy is not by objective means, it is subjectively determined: We need 89% of the population oriented to Spirit (or altruism) in order to make this a reality. Clearly we don't have that on Earth at this time, being that the Zetas report we are at less than 30%, making the Pole-shift a reality.

Zeta Intelligence

For those who are not familiar with the Zetas and as a reminder for those who just peruse the writings occasionally, I wanted to include this information that came up in the July 10th Zetataalk discussion.

A little background: When Nancy Leider (founder of Zetataalk.com) was about 20 years old, she had her brain enhanced to be able to telepathically communicate according to a pre-birth arrangement.

ZetaTalk, means the Zetas Speak Telepathically to Nancy,

She does not just simply relay Zeta communication. Nancy must have a completely clear understanding of the question put to her by the questioner before she can interpret the Zeta response. The Zetas will completely understand the question, but Nancy will not be able to receive a clear communication from the Zetas otherwise.

The average IQ of a human is said to be a value of 100, a Zeta personality would score a "human" IQ of 287. This test is based on speed and accuracy only.

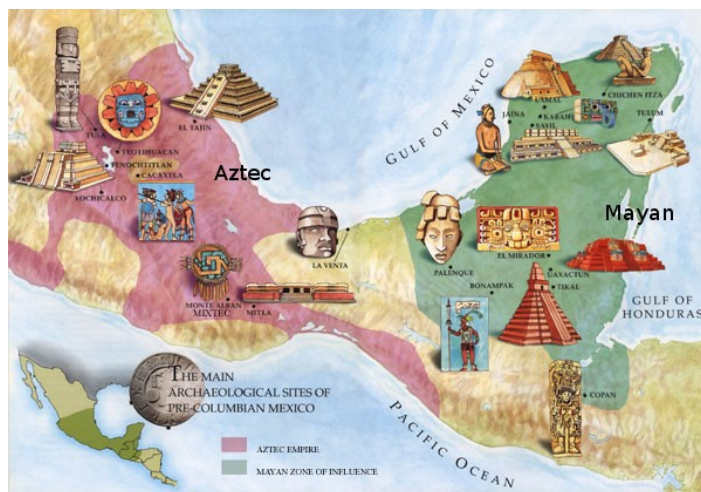

The Human mind carries on dozens of thoughts simultaneously, but we are aware of only one train of thought at a time. Although hard to believe, a Zeta individual carries on thousands of thoughts at once. Add to this, that that Zeta race also have an open "hive like" telepathic communication in groups, so the intelligence and the accuracy quotient is much higher one mind operating plus the fact that a Zeta Brain is not divided into 3, as is the Human brain: The fore-brain, mid-brain, and hind-brain.

We Humans need dream, can be indecisive and just plain have no commonsense. Some people have poor motor control, some have a difficult time understanding math functions and others just can't manipulate spacial concepts. The list just goes on and on. In comparison, the Zetas have only one very large brain (left & right hemispheres). This means thought and action is integrated, present, clear and focused.

My purpose of mentioning this is so that, those who are open to it, understand the incredible coherent and expansive mind power that is at work here. I invite those who would challenge this, to read the ZetaTalk website for a week and see for yourself the amazing continuity of thought that is displayed by following the complex topics to their conclusion. Read 1995 material, then read 2010 material, it's all seamlessly remembered and organized into a coherent expression.

The following was posted about a year ago at the ZetaTalk forum when it was based at Godlikeproductions.com, it really says it all:

"A truly objective and comprehensive assessment of ZT would reveal an astonishing mathematical improbability of the accidental correctness of so many diverse forecasts and predictions. As such, what are the mathematical odds that ZT would so correctly project and forecast a plethora of such diverse, multidisciplinary topics prior to being verified by earth's current events and cold blooded event stream analysis? Is it in the quadrillions or septillions to one against? . . . meaning so mathematically improbable as to be almost impossibly an accident for so many diverse items to be so correctly forecasted and projected? What would Star Trek's Spock say the odds are, an estimate, please, to help the Doubting Thomas' tweak their thinking caps to the ON position? :-)"

Aztec Existential Mythology of Venus and the Pole-shift

In Meso-America, a region extending from central Mexico to Nicaragua, there existed several pre-Columbian societies using a solar (365 day) calendar and the 260-day ritual calendar. This was a pan-cultural experience. Both the Aztecs and the Mayans had sacrifice rituals and celebrations every 52 years according to the syncing of these two calendars. Figuring prominently in these calendars, were Earth-Venus movements that are big clues to the pole-shift experiences by these cultures.... (to be continued next page).

Brief digression: An Aztec Calendar discussion

The image on the previous page, is a replica of the Aztec Sun Stone. This is not the calendar itself, but a sacrificial altar. The calendar system used 2 wheels based on seasonal rituals against the solar year, and the second calendar being a "day-count" sacred divinatory tool.

day. Right - are the 20 day signs
seen in the top outer circles. A highly complex system upon which many books have been written.

The Aztecs, however, had a great king called: "Quetzalcoatl" who died at 52 years old on the same calendar day that he was born: "ce acatl" or "One Reed". It just happened, that his birth and death exactly corresponded with the natural 52 year period in what is also called: "the calendar round". Moreover, the Zetas report that "Venus had its orbit temporarily discombobulated by a prior passage, and thus loomed close to Earth at that 52 year period." So this behaviour of Venus (and ultimately, the passage of Planet X) was associated with the passing away of this "creator-king" and became identified with a destruction and renewal aeon. Astronomer priests thereafter, anticipated world destruction by fire, wind, or water every 52 years.

An interesting set of co-incidences rooted in the Aztec cultural history, blending the death of a creator-king, the great Meso-American calendar system, Earth's Sister Venus and the passage of Planet X.

The saving of Earth

The pure fact is, that Earth will transition to the 4th dimension within about 100 years from the pole-shift.

In order for Earth to sustain this period, with the current Human Life resident on her, the Pole-shift needed to proceed.

It is also interesting to note, that it would take an additional tens of millions of years for the spiritual development of current Humans, to reach the needed level to make the move to the 4th dimension. Therefore, Earth is indeed "administratively scheduled for her Transformation", according to the Zetas.

In the July 17th Zetataalk, the Zetas say that Earth would have been destroyed within 100 years. As it is now, the rate of overpopulation and pollution would fulfill that vector of destiny. This is not a conjecture, or a socioeconomic extrapolation, this is a Zeta prediction, a prediction from a proven accurate source.

I think even the reasonable person today who observes the Human condition, would come to a similar conclusion. There many of those who wish to "save the Earth". Although well-intentioned, they have no idea of what the Earth is capable of, what spirit mechanisms are in place that are supra-active. Neither do the Pawns with the placards understand the role they play in the overall game-board of Corporate rooks and knights, the Kings and Queens of mighty wealth and the bishops of the brutal war machine standing across the playing field tilted in the favor of the elite.

This is the kali Yuga: The Earth is due for a cull, and that is the simple truth. The Golden age is upon us, but not without the transformative gauntlet of the pole-shift.

Seeking High Ground

It is advised that when choosing a location to ride-out the pole-shift, to choose a clay hill as opposed to one that is wet soil or sandy soil. Obviously, this is in lieu of rocky ground. The Zetas suggest avoiding such soils as liquefaction can present itself in a hurry during the heavy shaking of the ground. Amazingly, Clay is more solid even when wet. Liquefaction will topple any structure on, or "fill in" any trench dug into it.

What is suggested is a long shallow trench (25 feet) dug into slightly sloping ground: 1. - that is high to avoid flooding from rain or flash flood so it will drain if water finds it's way into the trench, 2. - not in a heavily wooded area, but "brushy", so that an exodus is not prevented by a "tangle of wood", 3. - that is covered with a metal roof that will protect you from bolides, a possible fire storm, flying rock and high wind. The metal roof needs to be secured so it doesn't blow off in the very high winds.

One has to be careful choosing to hide-out in a ravine, as it can quickly become a conduit for a rushing flash flood, or one could experience rock-fall.

Millions of clams surfacing on Karachi Beach

An amazing event is unfolding now (July 25th) on the beaches of Karachi, Pakistan: Millions of live clams are surfacing enmass: Video.

This is caused by "geo-neutrinos", the new scientific term for what the Zetas have been saying for years about particle emanations from rock under high pressure. The Clams are trying to escape the particle "noise" and sense the danger of this radiation, indeed, as this particle flow can kill at high concentrations or extended exposure.

Looking at the continental plates involved below, you can see the Eurasian, Arabian and the Indo-Australian plates all meet right under Karachi. The mantle is under incredible pressure at this point, as the entire Continent of India is being forced under the Himalaya's.

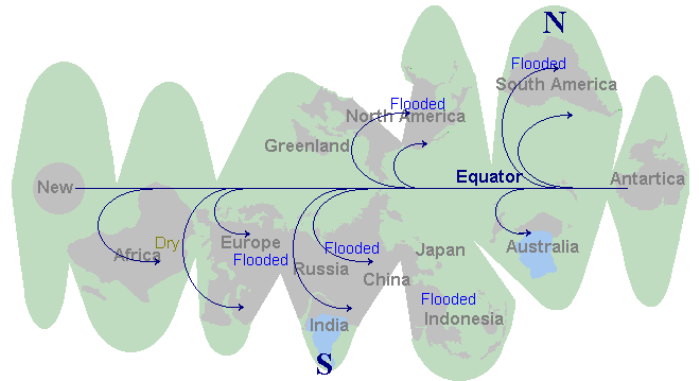

Continental map of pre-poleshift Earth

On the earthquake map for July 20th 2010 at the top of the next column, I have isolated the affected area with Karachi centered on the map. Notice the Large red circle? ...This is very high earthquake activity. The large red circle is right over Karachi. One can safely assume that these clams are running from danger by climbing to the beach surface, where they are dying by the millions, the poor little dears.

After-time Prevailing Winds update

In my Planet X NewsLetter Issue #4, I ask the reader to compare current Prevailing wind directions with the Zetataalk new geography map to get a rough idea as to what wind directions to expect in the after-time. However, I have found this map below which I asked the Zetas to clarify for me, as the wind directions seem contrary to conventional habitual wind movements around the globe.

You can see that the trade winds arch, in some cases, extends quite high into the temperate zones above the Tropic of Cancer and below the Tropic of Capricorn.

This map is somewhat consistent, although deviation of the wind directions may vary depending on Ocean temperatures, land mass placement and globe rotation direction in the after-time. From my studies of Zetataalk writing, it's still up-in-the-air as to all the dynamics involved determining prevailing wind directions for Post pole-shift life, still the essential curling movement of air currents will persist. In conclusion, I would suggest that if we have global rotation reversal at the completion of the Crustal shift, air movement will be West to East along the Equator.

The Thermosphere has shrunk!

Yes Virginia, it has shrunk, but it's supposed to when you have an immense magnetic planet transiting the Solar System!

A Naval research lab is saying that the Thermosphere has had the biggest contraction in 43 years: "A space age record".

The Thermosphere extends from about 50 to 370 miles above Earth. The expansion and the contraction of the Thermosphere is caused by high energy particle flows from the Sun being absorbed by ions naturally within this layer of air in our atmosphere. As absorption proceeds, they heat up and thereby expand the Thermosphere. We are talking as hot as 2,730°F.

This story is another nail in NASA's coffin, as they have been predicting a very high Coronal Mass Ejection (solar activity) period for years, but the Sun is just snoring away.

The kicker for NASA in this story, is that the lead scientist is saying that the shrinkage of the Thermosphere is 2 to 3 times greater than the conventional science model of low solar activity could explain. This leaves NASA empty-handed for a reason to account for this and maintain the cover-up at the same time. Not a peep from NASA on this.

Another aspect of the story that they are trying to float, is the idea that it is increased CO2 that "might" be causing the cooling. Well, since CO2 is practically non-existent in the Thermosphere (CO2 is 2.5 X heavier than Oxygen), and it is considered space (the space station orbits within it), is it going to be cooled by a trace amount of CO2 to the tune of 3X smaller? We don't think so.

The real reason for the shrinkage, of course, is that the Sun is quieted by the powerful magnetic influence of Planet X dramatically reducing the highly energetic solar radiation from the Sun.

Government support: Katrina style

The Zetas have warned us a long time now, that the U.S. Government will not be forthcoming during in support during and after the global cataclysms caused by Planet X. This, of course, is the same story around the World, with the probable exception of Norway.

The Zetas: "Another (FEMA) option on the books is to confiscate idle farmland and transplant homeless families"

To the right an image from a July 14th story about a government raid on private food supply clubs in the U.S. These are not big operations, they are small groups of people interested in sharing purely organic food from small farms and groups of home-based food producers. This is possible evidence of food and population control by the U.S. Government. This story is brought forth to underline the accuracy of the Zetatalk message.

Pacific NorthWest Native supernatural being: A'Yahos

Although associated with a major local earthquake in 900 A.D. this concept is much more than that. It also occurs as a "shape shifter often appearing as an enormous serpent, sometimes with blazing eyes and horns, or as a composite creature having the forequarters and head of a deer with the tail of a snake." (Myth and geology By Luigi Piccardi, W. Bruce Masse)

Here, in this image, A'yahos appears as a double-headed serpent or snake. The local Native legends are deeply buried in word-of-mouth story expressed in concepts of the original Lifestyle. It is my opinion that this spirit being was born from a now forgotten passage of Planet X.

My Planet X NewsLetter is dedicated to saving the lives of the caregivers of children, so as many children can be saved as possible in the coming Global Cataclysms generated by the Passage of PX. Please pass this NewsLetter on, so that at least the children have a fighting chance to survive. Our children are the future.

I am 60 years old, have 5 off-spring and live in Victoria B.C.
